KITCHENS!

▲ With the French Country style kitchen open to other adjacent areas, columns and an enhanced ceiling treatment were used to visually delineate the kitchen area. Dropping the ceiling two feet allowed the creation of a recess that permits the ceiling's deep center dimension—an element that helps to “cozy up” the large space.

The ceiling was dropped to emphasize the kitchen space. ▼

Thomas D. Trzcinski, CMKBD, is president of the Trzcinski Design Group, owners of two leading firms in Pittsburgh, Pa., Kitchen & Bath Concepts and Poggenpohl Pittsburgh. He and his team have won more national design awards than anyone else in the industry, including more than 35 in the National Kitchen & Bath Association's annual competition—the kitchen and bath design Oscars. His kitchens have twice been selected as one of the country's top 50 in the prestigious Sub-Zero/Wolf Design Competition.

Trzcinski is a past president of NKBA and served on the board for 14 years. He is one of only a hundred Certified Master Kitchen & Bath Designers in the country.
